Sandy Corbell and DeeAnn Wright, wearing their Sesquicentennial style dresses, visit with Jerry Key during lunch. May 15 was designated "Sesquicentennial Dress-up Day" by the committee in charge of celebration activities on campus.

"We've Got The Edge!"

he theme of our book this year is "We've Got the EDGE." Geographically, our county is located on the Southwest "EDGE" of Arkansas, bordered by Oklahoma and Texas. Our school system is located on the "EDGE" of Little River County. With the Sesquicentennial celebrations we crossed an historic "EDGE" as we joined fellow Arkansans across the state to celebrate Arkansas' 150th birthday.

Academically, we got a head start on the "Clinton" standards which will go into effect during the 1986-87 school year. We have also placed a minimum requirement of 1.5 grade point average on any student participating in extra-curricular activities. These two factors alone give us the "EDGE" on other schools who haven't yet activated the requirements. "EDGE", according to the American Heritage Dictionary, is "keenness; a dividing line or point of transition; a margin of superiority; an advantage." As you leaf through these pages you will begin to see that we truly have the "EDGE."

Jay Smith, Honor graduate, and Maya Robbins visit during lunch period on one of the many benches under the pine trees on campus. Jay scored a 31 on his ACT.

Mike Brown, a 1986 Honor graduate, played basketball, was in National Honor Society, and attended Boys State.

Student Life

This year the students of FHS have been on the "Edge" of celebrations in 1986. FHS has participated in many festivities including the Sesquicentennial. Across the state students joined together to celebrate the 150th birthday of Arkansas. Festivities at FHS include a day long celebration with students and teachers dressing in clothing appropriate of the early days. FFA sponsored an Arkansas Trivia contest. At the Elementary schools a week long celebration took place.

The FFA sponsored a day long celebration that commemorated the days of the old west, called Western Day. There were contests such as the Egg Toss, the three legged race and the best dressed Cowboy and Cowgirl, the winners of each contest were awarded two free tickets to the FFA Rodeo. Martin Luther King's birthday was commemorated with an art contest sponsored by the Art Club.

Another spectacular event was the visit of Halley's Comet. Many students watched as the renowned comet made its way around the sun and then back into deep space.

The Fun Side Of School

Life does not end just because class is over; instead, it just begins. From assemblies with Bobo the Magician to spending time with your friends at noon students have a variety of activities to participate in. After school activities range from the Little River County Fair Parade, to helping with the FFA Chili Supper and Work Day Auction to after school jobs. But the best time of the day is when you can get together with your friends to talk or just clown around.

◆ Stacy Green, Christy Gibson, Lana Warrick, and Melissa Erman take time to pose as they rush to their next class

◆ Kelvin Wiseman takes time out from school to play on the slides

◆ Flowers and a balloon make Jennifer Sanders' day. She is taking a Geometry Test

◆ Diane Latham and Kristie Bell make signs for the Pee Wee Basketball Tournament

◆ John Williams take a short nap at

Life At FHS

Life at FHS is not always school work. In between classes students get together to talk and socialize. At noon they get together with their friends and have lunch. They share a lot of good times and bad. It is said that the friendships that you make in school will last a lifetime and by the look of the students of FHS, they are no different.

Class Rings And Graduation Announcements;

Last Two Big Steps!

We reach many milestones in our lives as we travel from infancy to old age. Two of the most exciting for high school students are class ring ordering time and time to order graduation announcements.

Juniors seem to have "hand and arm ailments" when class rings come back.

Seniors suddenly realize they have many relatives.

Whatever the discovery, one cannot deny that class rings and graduation announcements are the last two big steps for high school students.

◆ Steven McKee and Rebecca Green talk with Eddie Arnold, the Josten Salesman, about their rings

◆ Eugene Knighten, Gina Oliver, and Jerry Key examine each others rings

◆ Kellve Walker, Stephanie Shanks, Norma Wright, Detra Burris, and Eric Roberts fill out their order sheets for Senior Announcements

◆ Brenda Keenev admires her new class ring

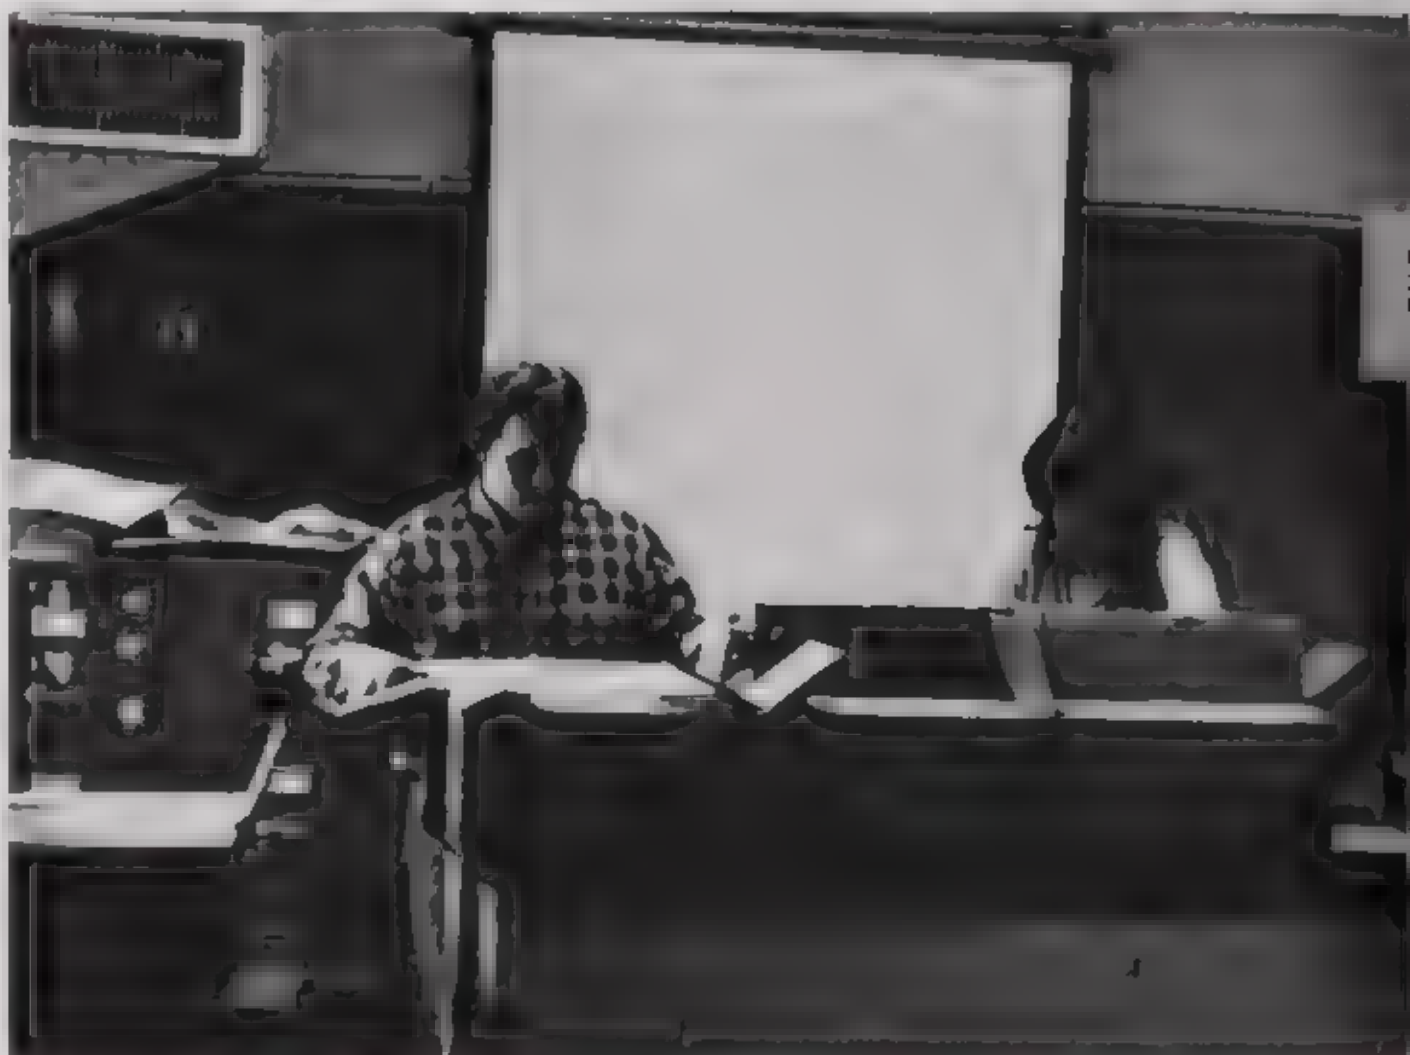

◆ Eula French, Melauna Talley, Elizabeth Henner, and Donna Armstreet study the different choices in rings

Yearbooks + Pictures = Memories

"Does my hair look okay?", "I hope this shirt looks good!", "My mom's making me do this." Sound vaguely familiar? Many more comments such as these are made on Picture Day, the day our visages are recorded for posterity and the yearbook. It may not seem like a big deal now but wait twenty years, go back through your yearbook, and then, suddenly, it is important. Maybe because a friend's picture brings back fond memories.

Because the yearbook covers a year's activities, it is delivered in the fall. The last deadline is usually after school is out so graduation can be included. The excitement of a new year is combined with the memories and nostalgia of the old. Many times the staff members who produced the book have gone on the bigger and better things. The task ahead of each new staff is to "make our book the best; ever!" As the books are handed out the staff members who helped put the book together stand around like proud new parents, listening and hoping to hear "Oohs" and "Aahs" about their new offspring.

FFA Plans Activities To Commemorate The Old West

On April 25, the FFA sponsored Western Day to commemorate the old west and set the mood for the FFA Rodeo. Different competitions were held including the three legged race, the egg toss, and the best dressed cowboy and cowgirl winners received free tickets to the Rodeo. The Rodeo Queen was Gina Birch.

◆ Calvin Compton and Tim Posey talk about the events of Western Day.

◆ Steven Miller, Jay Smith, Johnny Rivers, Tommy Davis, and Brad McCombs compete for the best dressed Cowboy. Johnny Rivers and Tommy Davis tied for the best dressed Cowboy and both received tickets to the FFA Rodeo.

Happy Birthday, Arkansas!

FHS held a day long celebration to commemorate the 150th birthday of Arkansas. The celebration was highlighted by the burning of the time-capsule on campus. The time capsule will be dug up in fifty years. The contents of the capsule was donated by the different clubs on campus.

For the occasion, the Governor's office sent a special Sesquicentennial Flag to the school. The flag flew over the high school for the week of the celebration.

Several of the students and teachers on campus dressed up in traditional clothes for the celebration.

Several antique displays were put on exhibit the week of the celebration. Ms. Hawkins and Ms. Phillips brought their collections to the school and displayed them in the High School Library during noon. While the different classes came to see the display the women told a little about the objects.

A musical exhibit was also held in the High School gym for the Upper and Lower Elementary classes. The musicians played various instruments from the time period in which Arkansas became a state.

Academics

This year has seen many advancements in the area of academics at Foreman High School. Several faculty members have returned to the college classroom to earn higher degrees, giving us the "Edge" on the quality of education taught at Foreman. Several students have taken Freshman College English that was offered at Cossott which gives them the "Edge" on other students that will wait until next year to take Freshman College English.

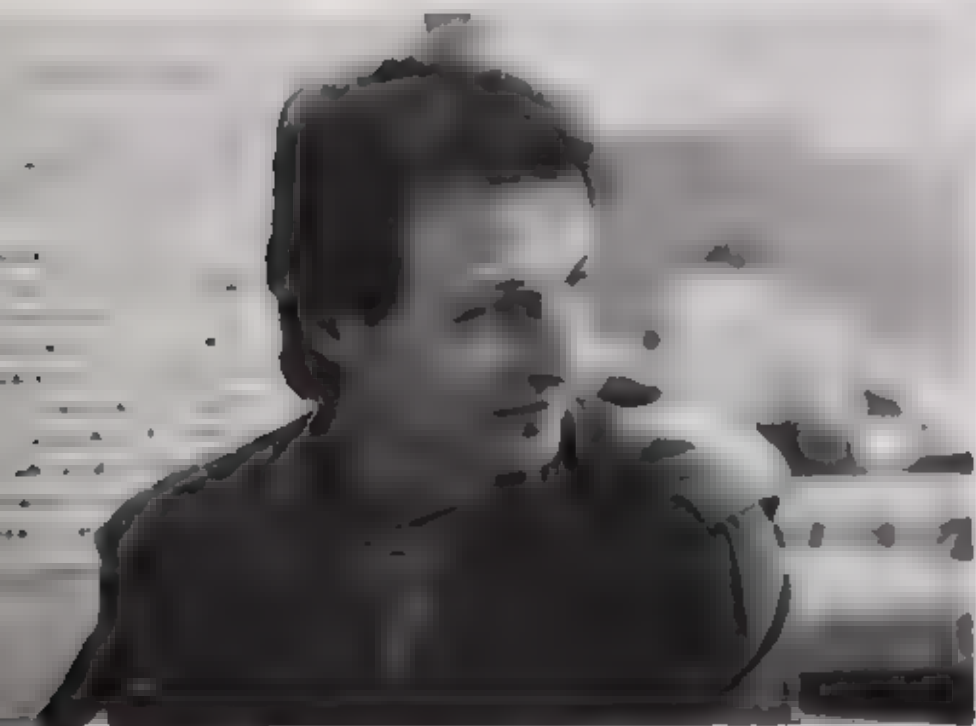

Many students took the ACT test and scored high, showing that we have the "Edge" on scholarships and college opportunities.

The new standards, established by the legislature, will go into effect in 1987. As a result of these standards, physics, economics, choral music, computer literacy, a course on novels, a course on short stories, and Global Studies were added to the curriculum. These additions were made before the mandate time, thus giving an "Edge" on course offerings.

Toni Cooper takes time from her work to give that sly, devilish look.

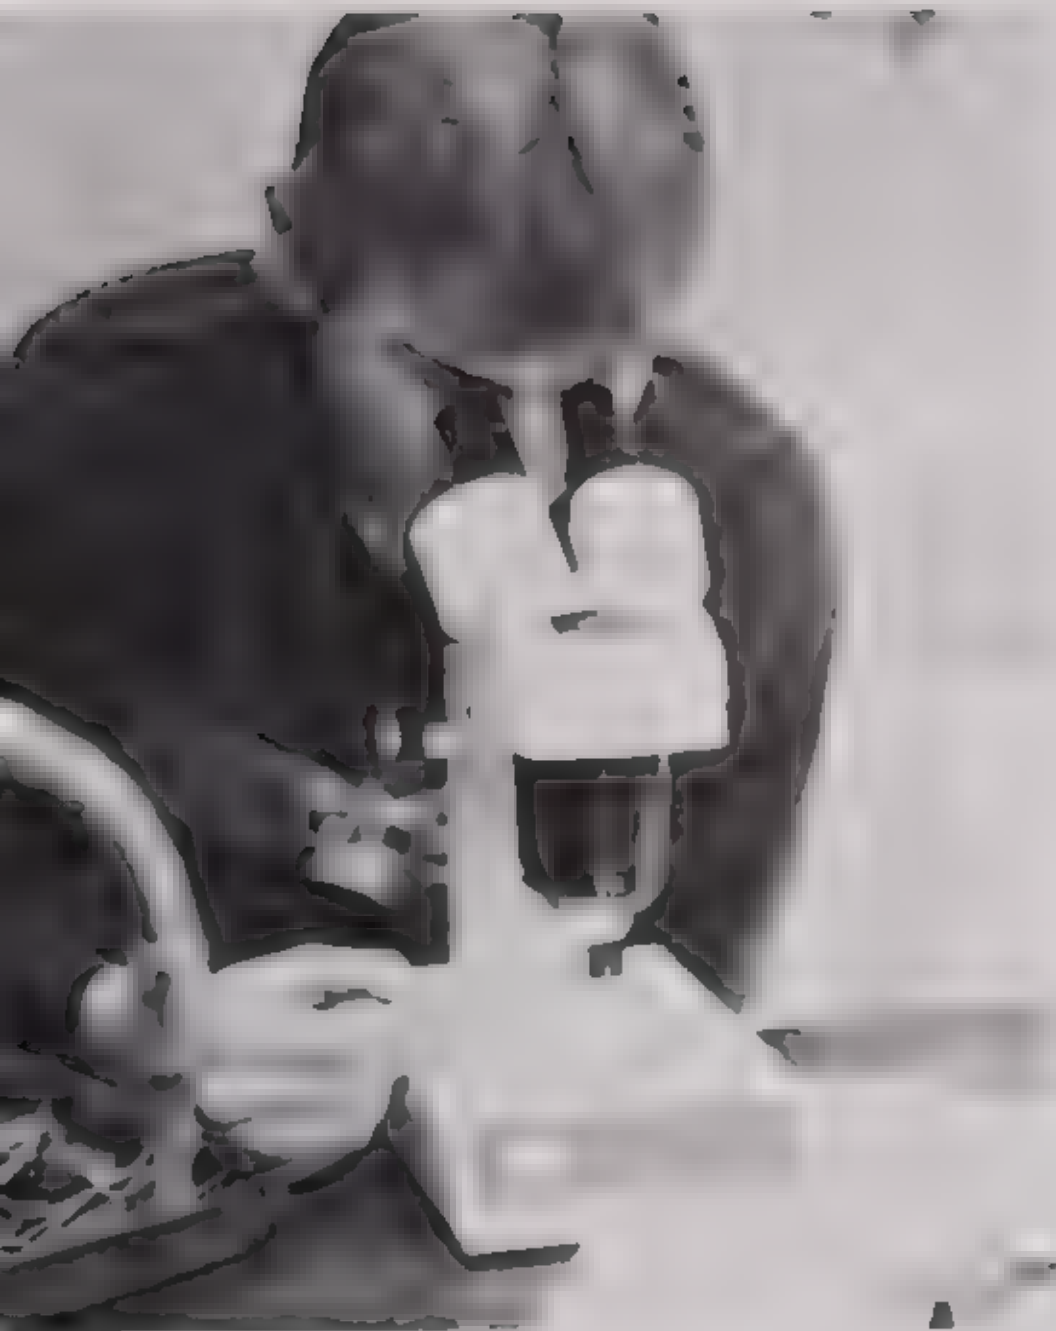

Mr Jackson is the high school science teacher. The photographer took this shot while Mr. Jackson was teaching his physics class.

Steven McRae works diligently on the dissection of a cat for Advanced Biology Two while James Smith watches.

Students Research And Learn

Science (sai ens) noun sys-temitized knowledge of any one department of the mind or matter

Webster gives us that definition of science. Without science and without research labs, the technology of the human race would cease to exist. It would simply die. With the help of teachers who are willing to teach and students who are willing to learn, this could never happen.

Mr. Don Jackson has been the high school science teacher for two school years, from 1983 to 1986. He teaches General Science, Physical Science, Biology, Advanced Biology II, Chemistry, and Physics. In the 86-87 school year he has plans for an Advanced Earth Science class.

His Advanced Biology II class has been very active. They have dissected seven cats and one shark. Learning the anatomy of plants and animals is a very important part of the Advanced Biology class.

Students who take an advanced science class will probably have jobs related to science.

Every good scientist knows that an education is the key to success.

Kevin Davis looks at the wings of a honey bee through the lens of a high-powered microscope.

Mr. Jackson tries to explain the theory of evolution to his Advanced Biology students.

◆ Mr. Duaine Dickens visited Mr. Traywick's economics class to talk about banking

◆ Mr. Traywick uses his hands to emphasize a point before his class takes a test. On the board behind him is the form for the test paper.

Anthony Hardwick, Mark Brown, George Knighten, and Mindy Bowman won in the

Social Studies Comes In Many Forms.

Social Studies classes can cover almost anything that deals with people. Our elementary students learn social studies through many of the programs they perform.

Some of Mr. Young's students learned through the Newspaper in the Classroom Program.

Mr. Traywick's 9th grade Civics students went to the state capital while the legislature was in special session.

Even some social studies lessons were learned through art as students participated in the Martin Luther King Art Contest. And good citizenship awards obviously are lessons.

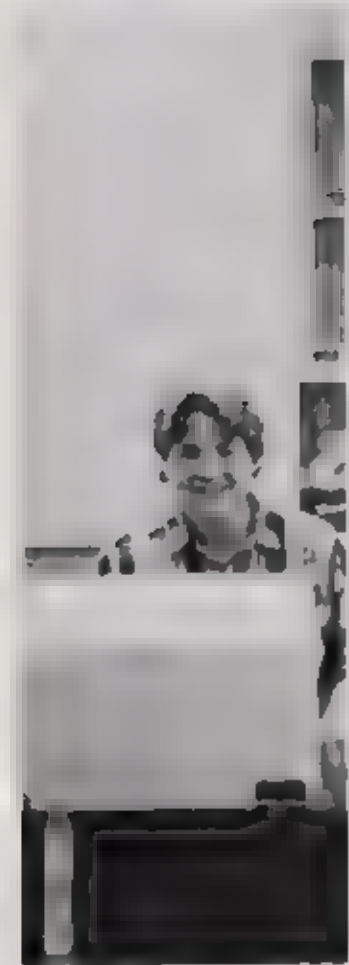

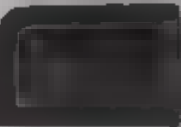

Mr. Young uses one of his maps while teaching his Global Studies class.

Many elementary students learned the meaning of citizenship and achievement through the program started this year

♥ Chris Gaudin, center, gives his approval on the postponement of an Algebra One test. Amy Horn, Toni Green and Eric Oliver smile at the good news.

Computers And Math Go Hand In Hand

Mathematics and computers go hand in hand. Computers "think" in numbers. Only two, to be exact, 0 and 1. It is called the binary code. Students who take any computer class would know this.

Students everywhere are learning how these complex pieces of machinery work. One must have a knowledge of mathematics.

Anita Baker teaches senior high math, while Gary Stewart and Bill Stuart teach junior high. Anita Baker also teaches computer classes sixth and seventh period. Word Processing is taught by Shirley Smith. Computer Literacy, taught by Anita Baker, is in its first year. Along with English history and Mathematics, computers have been recognized as subjects that need to be taught to the students.

Que Pasa?

What's Happening?

The 1985-86 school year has proven very educational in terms of technology and foreign language. The Foreman High School gifted and talented classes have planned and carried out several projects pertaining to the betterment of the school. They have taught upper elementary students physical education, prepared demonstrations on the history of Arkansas and, sponsored the district spelling bee. They even arranged for a NASA official to visit F.H.S. and give a demonstration on space exploration, the shuttle program, and the destruction of the space shuttle Challenger. Among other things demonstrated the power of an education. The G.T. classes are taught by Mr. Rush Oliver. Mr. Oliver was the high school science teacher for two years, from 1982 to 1984.

The foreign language department headed by Mr. Mark Nunley, is on its feet with two successful high school Spanish classes, Spanish One and Spanish Two. Mr. Nunley also teaches Spanish to both upper and lower elementary students. This is Mr. Nunley's first year to teach at F.H.S. The Spanish department has had an active part in the support of the school's newly adopted Latin American child, Juliana da Navitidahae of Brazil.

Mr. Oliver and Joey Davis pose with Tom Sarko of NASA. Mr. Sarko presented the different aspects of NASA during a general assembly.

MISSOURI STATE COLLEGE

English And Speech; Communication

English is the mother language to most students at F.H.S. Spanish, Polish and a few other languages have also been heard on campus.

To graduate, a student must pass four years of English. To some, this is the most worthwhile class they could ever take, but to others it is a total waste of time. When a person learns to speak a language correctly, no time has been wasted. For an advanced civilization to survive (or any civilization at all for that matter) there must be language.

Sue Taaffe, Karen Smith, and Margo Traywick all teach English on a junior high or high school level.

Without communication there can be no language. The FHS speech class is taught by Mr. Traywick. Students have debates, give speeches and even put on dramas. This year's production was "Twelve Angry Jurors" by Reginald Rose.

Hard Work Pays Off

Striving to put together the finest yearbook ever produced by a Foreman annual staff caused the journalism class not only to work all class period but also put in many after-school-hours. However, all work and no play makes for a dull yearbook, so the staff took trips to Texarkana for pizza parties after each deadline was finished.

The yearbook was not the only project taken on by the journalism class. "The Gator Times", the school paper, was also a major endeavor. All articles were written by the paper staff, typed into school computers, and printed on a daisy wheel printer. Paste-up was done in the classroom. Kwik Kopy in Texarkana did the offset printing. The papers were sold for $25.

Organization

Students have the "Edge" in participation with clubs that not only hold regular meetings, but also participate in state competitions. By far the most visible and active is the Future Farmers of America. FFA members consistently place high in livestock competition among other activities.

This year several clubs have participated in Sesquicentennial celebrations. FFA hosted an Arkansas Trivia contest in which representatives of each club matched wits on Arkansas history.

Spanish Club was revived and the Art Club joined forces to host a Spanish Christmas classroom door decoration contest.

The Art Club also sponsored a drawing contest to commemorate Martin Luther King's birthday.

FHA had the first male president; Keith McClain

Husband And Wife Team

Bring Music To Foreman Students

The Marching Band and the newly formed choir make up the music department at FHS. The Choral Music group which is directed by Mrs. Judy Crews has made quite a name for itself through performances at football games, at the high school, and even trips to other schools. The husband/wife team is complete with band director Mr. Mike Crews. The marching band started the new year with a new look. Their old band uniforms were lost in last year's fire so they had to wear white shirts and blue jeans until their new uniforms arrived. When their new uniforms finally did arrive they were a hit! They consisted of a white hat with black and gold plumes, black pants with maroon and white stripes, tux type tops with ruffles, and specially designed marching shoes.

Tracey Lawrence, Stacy Jones, and Eric Roberts concentrate on Mrs. Crews' directions during a special half-time performance in football season.

Sandy Corbell, Steven McRae, Stacy Jones and Gina Birch sing "Rock Around The Clock" during the 50's segment of "American Pop."

Steven Miller was Field Commander, Lana Warrick was Masseurette, and Melissa Ermann was Flag Captain.

FHA, More Than Just A Homemaking Club

The FHA chapter at Foreman High School has the "Edge" on participation. The chapter raised over $300.00 for the Arkansas Childrens Hospital, plus other numerous activities that have aided our community. The Foreman FHA chapter president is Keith McLane. He is the only male FHA president in the state. Melauna Talley, a Foreman FHA member, was elected reporter for Federation 18 which consists of 20 schools. The chapter also held their annual Valentine's Day Dance and Banquet.

The FHA officers are Angela Golden, historian, Pam Heath, secretary, Tracy Lawrence, 3rd vice, Keith McLane, pres. Susan Taaffe, 2nd vice, Michelle Grimes, Reporter, and Christy Young, S.C. rep.

The FFA is by far the most active club on the Foreman High School campus. They have a very dedicated adviser, Mr. Larry Lairmore, who makes sure all FFA activities run smoothly. The Foreman FFA chapter participates in all activities available to FFA chapters on the local, state, and national levels. Our chapter also has the highest percent of students in the state to show livestock. The Foreman FFA sponsors the longest running junior rodeo in the four states area. They have been putting this rodeo on for the past fourteen years. The chapter also must raise money to fund their many activities, so they annually hold the Slave Day Auction and fruit sales. This year they raised a total of over $7000.00.

Serve The Student Body

The students who give their own time to serve the school really do a lot to help. A major group on campus that gives up a lot for the student body is the Student Council. This group of officers are as follows; Tracy Lawrence, president; Eric Roberts vice president; Sandy Corbell, secretary; Daryl Roberts, treasurer; and Steven McRae, reporter. Other members of the council include representatives from every class and organization on campus. The Student Council really got the edge on the 85-86 school year. They sponsored a "Toys for Tots" benefit basketball game and were in charge of collecting money to help with LaDale Royal's medical bills. They also did many other things to benefit Foreman High School and its students.

◆ Mrs. Anita Baker, head of the math department, gives her time to sponsor the Student Council

◆ Henry Hooks watches Kevin Davis closely as he marks his ballot for the new Student Council officers

◆ Sandy Corbell shows that she supports 'Wright' for Student Council v. president as she prepares to mark her ballot

◆ Steven McRae displayed some very original campaign posters during the Student Council election campaign.

Sports

This year in order to participate in any sport a student had to have a 1.5 grade point average. This rule was put into effect to make student athletes students first and athletes second. This put a strain on teams for awhile but many athletes took the challenge and kept their grades up.

Our sports facilities are admired by many. The football field is one of the finest in the state. This year a new weight room was added to the fieldhouse, replacing the old one which was destroyed last year when the "old gym" burned. Last summer the gym floor was refinished, and new score boards were added just before basketball season. The baseball field has one of the best playing surfaces in the state.

New uniforms seemed to give the teams a boost. In years past we battled over whether maroon was maroon or cardinal red. Maroon won. Now the football uniforms, basketball uniforms and cheer leader uniforms match.

Many students take pleasure in sports outside the school. Some of the favorites are deer hunting, rabbit hunting, fishing, and bowling to name a few.

Yes, "We've Got The Edge" whether it's organized sports or leisure activities. Foreman students are involved in sports year round.

Gators End With 5-5 Season

When they returned for summer practice in August, the Gators knew it was going to be hard work but in the long run it would all work out. The football team ended the year with a five and five record. Many of the players were asked, "Why do you play football?" "The feeling I get on Friday Night when the lights come on." was one of the main reasons. To really sum it all up, the word is "PRIDE". And in the end, with wins over Dierks and Murfreesboro, the Gators knew that they were a team.

Who's Behind That FHS Spirit?

The FHS spirit was on a natural high during the 1985-86 school year. Our squad consisted of only five girls which is much smaller than previous years but that didn't mean that our spirit was at a loss.

The cheerleaders put in many hours of grueling practice during the summer which paid off in many honors at camp. These honors shone in pride during the pep-rallies, football games, and basketball games. They had to make many personal sacrifices just to keep that FHS spirit.

Now, if anyone asks you; "Who's behind that FHS spirit?" you can just tell them; "Those great FHS cheerleaders!"

Small In Size But Big On Spirit

The Foreman Junior High cheerleaders really got the edge on a great season. Even though the squad was small, they had an abundance of spirit and energy. Just to prove their dedication one night they traveled to Stamps to cheer on the mighty Jr. Gators but no one else bothered to show up! The game had been canceled but no one told the cheerleaders! All in all the FJH cheerleaders, Susan, Tina, Lacy, Kara, and Angel had a great year!

"We Watched The Weather All Day. Just As We Feared . RAIN!"

The students of FHS and especially the homecoming royalty watched the weather all day and just as they had feared ---- RAIN!!! The weather stayed decent long enough for pictures to be made on the field but at the last minute the afternoon homecoming activities were moved to the gym. It seems as tough rainy homecomings have become a tradition here at FHS. The rain was disappointing to many and so was the game. The Mighty Gators unfortunately were defeated 27-0 by the Mineral Springs Hornets. Even though things didn't go as most Gator fans had wished it was a very exciting evening.

"Never Count A Gator Out . . ."

This year was like a roller coaster for the Foreman Gator basketball team. After dropping the first four games of the year the Gators came back to end with a 28 and 8 record.

A lot of leadership came from its seniors, Delvis Clark, Eric Roberts, Mike Brown and Horace Berry. Once again the guys won the district title outright just to prove you can never count a Gator out until the final buzzer. The team showed maturity in the end by pulling themselves together and winning the games of post season play.

Part Of Offseason Conditioning Program

♦ The Offseason program is designed to develop a player's strength and to improve his playing ability.

Many students think of weightlifters as muscleheads. Not true. Weightlifting can increase speed, agility, and perserverance without giving the Conan look which people tend to associate with weightlifting.

Offseason also includes running and conditioning that is intended to do all the above and to keep the player in shape.

Frequently OUT; Infrequently RAGEOUS; but always OUTRAGEOUS! Yearbook staff probably spent more time looking busy than being busy but we somehow got the job done. After-hours-work in the yearbook room, sometimes at Mrs. Traywick's home, sometimes forgotten, seemed to be the general rule. Cries of "When do we go eat Pizza?" frequented the conversations.

Editor, Shawn Kelley tried to keep the bunch in some kind of order but more often than not, Faces Section Editor, Bryan Garney found a Spanish comment to make.

Clubs Section Editor, Sandy Corbell spent much of her time scheduling and re-scheduling club shots.

Academics Section Editor, Steven McRae worked to perfect each page, almost to the end of Mrs. Traywick's sanity.

Mark Russell, Sports Editor, spent much of his time in the computer room.

Photographic Assistant, John Frady, jiggled film and generally annoyed everyone with his cheerfulness.

And last but not least, that temperamental Head Photographer and Darkroom person, Paul Gregory, could always be heard in the darkroom singing SNURF songs.

Our theme, "We've Got the EDGE!" has become a standard by which we hope this book will be remembered.

Josten's American Yearbook Company in Topeka, Kansas printed our book. Our faithful representative and friend, Tim Chambless, paid us frequent visits to boost morale, give suggestions, hold workshops, and even teach class.

Dave Gift, our in-plant consultant, helped to keep us straight while we covered activities of approximately 746 students, 48 certified teachers and administrators and many support personnel for grades K - 12. The 176 pages took about 10 months to complete.

The fortieth volume of the GATOR is wrapped in a Silver Gollar cover with maroon silkscreen custom art designed by Shawn Kelley, Editor.

Endsheets are maroon with silver lettering displaying the school's motto.

Base ink color is black on glossy stock paper.

Theme ideas, division pages, opening pages, closing pages, and endsheets were created at the summer workshop held on the Duachita Baptist University campus.

The basic family, Century Schoolbook, in 10 point body copy and 8 point caption copy, was complemented by subheads of 18 point Angeles and main heads of 36 point Angeles bold.

Shawn Kelley, was primary designer of the graphics throughout the book.

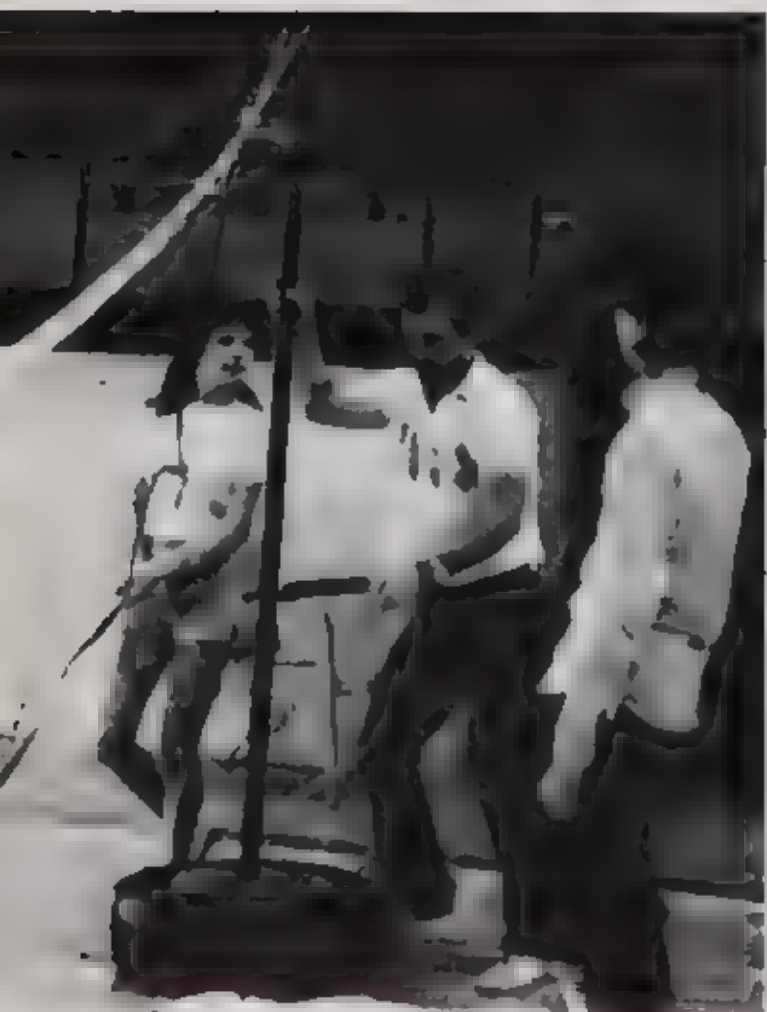

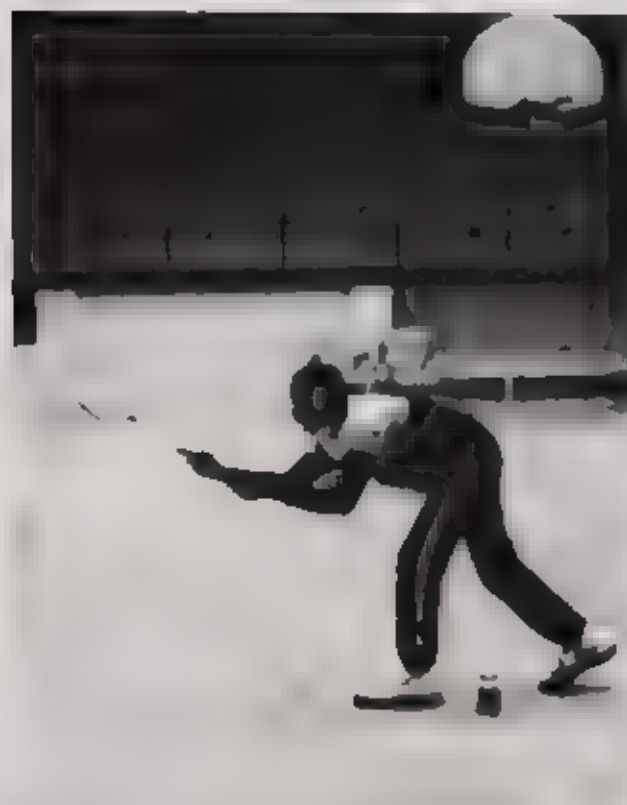

Many thanks to to the faculty and students for their interest and support. Special thanks must go to Mr. Lee for leaving our heat and air on at night. Mrs. Ruth Sharp, Mrs. Becky Ermaru, Mrs. Gail Phillips, and Mrs. Jay Kay Vance, "For your patience with all our questions, confusion, problems, and nonsense, WE ARE GRATEFUL."

Faces

Day in and day out we pass each other in the halls, in class, at lunch, on the buses, at activities, at games, but do we ever really take time to really see each other? In "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder, Emily says to her mother, "Oh, Mama, just look at me one minute as though you really saw me."

Our Faces division is here to let you stop a moment, look, and remember. These are the faces of our friends, our classmates, our teachers; all those we see daily, but sometimes don't really see.

Remember when you looked at your parent's yearbook and laughed about those funny hair styles and those funny clothes? Guess what? Not too many years from now your children will be doing the same thing. And you will be saying "Oh, I had forgotten all about so-and-so. I wonder what happened to her or to him?" "Look! There's that teacher we used to give such a hard time to. But I did get a lot out of that class."

So, take sometime, look at the faces, and "really see."

Budgets, Standards, Building Plans; Part Of Board Duties

With the task of preparing a six-year plan, working to implement the standards, and providing a place for band and choir to meet class the board stayed busy.

The no pass, no play policy had its effect on the junior high players but as the year progressed grades came up.

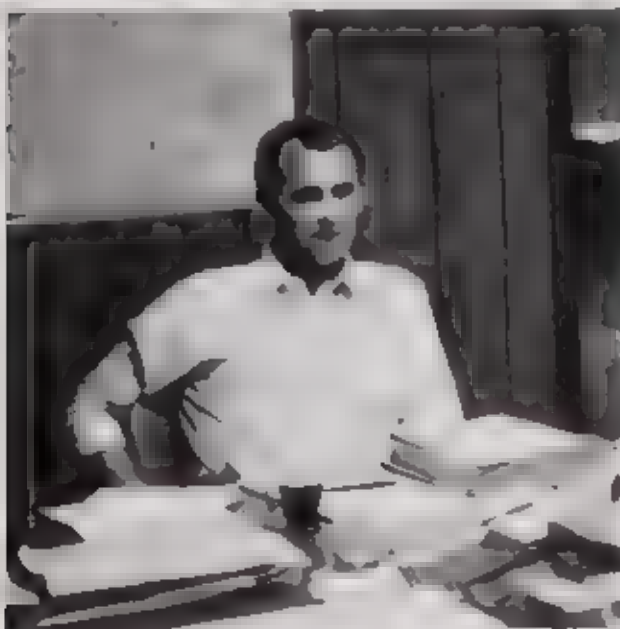

As the prospect of new money coming into the district dwindled, board members were challenged to find ways to cut, shuffle, and redistribute existing funds.

The new Fine Arts Complex was completed and students, teachers, and furniture moved in in mid-April.

First First

The Christmas Play is a big deal to Lamar Cleghorn. This first grader is having his acting debut! He is playing a friendly cow that gave up its manger for the infant Jesus to sleep in.

The Christmas Play is based on the exact Bible story, with one exception, instead of wisemen, there are children from all over the world. There were children from Russia as well as many other nations.

The Christmas Play included many students from Lower Elementary.

SENIOR COMMENTS...

Enjoy your high school years to the fullest, the time will soon be over. Make wonderful memories to cherish and remember. (Pam Heath)

Foreman High has been interesting, but I am ready to take my interest new places. I love my class and all the good times we have had. I am sure the world will enjoy the seniors of 1986. (Debbie Carver)

Foreman High School has been great, especially my senior year, because it's time for me to move on to other things and places. To the following seniors: study hard but also have fun and become closer with your classmates as the class of 1986 did. (Dorothy M. Shoals)

Always remember that knowledge is power, so try and improve your knowledge and see the world in a different perspective. (Kevin Oglesby)

Hold on to the support of your friends, because when you graduate you are on your own! (Russell Carroll)

Women are smarter than men because they know less and understand more! (Sue Langdon)

I hope that younger students will look forward to graduating and finishing school. So, perhaps they will have a chance at succeeding in life. (Teresa Hudson)

It's been fun and I'll miss it, but as for coming back and doing it over again FORGET IT! (Mike Brown)

These have been the most unforgettable years of my life yet some of the happiest. Goodbye to all those still left in school, Good luck to all the seniors. (Missy Blankinship)

Life is full of disappointments that we must overcome. Take all the downs with a smile and make the best of the ups 'cause you never know how long they will last. (Debra Burns)

The first 18 years of my life were great, I hope the next 18 will be even better. It's not the end for me, it is just the beginning. I'm far from finished!" (Anita Powell)

"Life is War" (Joe Reed)

We have come a long way, but not long enough. We have had it rough, but not rough enough, and we are so close yet so far. (Emmit Adcock)

Foreman High, to me, is a great place to go to school. Spend your time wisely your Senior year. Party, Dance, and have fun. We did! (Renee Milani)

To finish school and get out. To marry a nice man who will love me as much as I love him. To find me a good job and work and buy me a house. To have good luck at whatever I decide to do. (Bea Bromsley)

All I have to say is, "Don't rush High School, because it will be over before you know it. Good luck in school." (Keith McLane, "Britus")

It wasn't easy, and I'm not going to tell anyone it was, but I say to the Senior class of '87 "you can do it." Put God first and let him direct your path. Good luck. (Daryl Roberts)

School is like a small stream that runs for a few years and pours into a big ocean. THE REAL WORLD! (Chris Clayton)

To all the underclassmen. Do your best and enjoy school while you're still here, for you will be gone before you know it. (Mindy Salem)

It has been a pleasure going to Foreman School. And I will miss it because the teachers here taught me a lot, but as far as starting over again, FORGET IT! (Delvia Clark)

Over the last 18 years some of us have spent our time wisely and some of us have wasted the time that was given us. Remember that tomorrow is not promised to you but if you do receive your tomorrow make the most of it because whatever time that is not productive is wasteful. (Steven Miller)

"It's been real" (Sonja Wilkinson)

NO COMMENT! (Sherri Anderson)

Make the best of it everything, because you only live once. (Angie Proctor)

Love can die of a truth, as friendship of a lie. (Sheri Smith)

Shall tomorrow always come and with it all the better things life holds for you. (Todd Duncan)

Minds are like parachutes. They only function when they are open. (Gina Fagan)

Many people wish to live long, but only a few wish to live well. (Dave Davis)

To finish school. And to be the best wife and mother around. I want the best life for me and my family, and to get that I have to be the best at everything I do. (Theresa Haddox Guley)

Well, I have done my 13 years prison term. The wardens are really getting tough on you inmates, so the best thing to do is have good behavior, and you will get what you are out to accomplish. (Claude Rodgers)

Everyone should enjoy school, but especially their senior year. Party and only settle for the best, because it's gone before you know it! (Susan Taaffe)

To the fellow students of Foreman High, I would like to say that I have really enjoyed going to school with you, even though I am leaving I will always remember the good times and bad that I am leaving behind. So long! (Vicki Royal)

To my fellow friends and enemies, I would like to say, there is more to school than lunch and recess. So put your head in the book and your mind on the work, because it's not easy coming out of Foreman High. Believe me I've been there! (Tina Royal)

So little done; so much to do. (Warren Sharp)

To the class of '87", don't rush your last year. try and enjoy it, because after this year is over there will never be another. Remember to set your goals high, the sky is the limit! (Pete Wiseman)

To all the other classes coming up, enjoy school while you can, and make the best out of what you do. I'll miss you all. (Stephanie Shoals)

To all the coming up seniors and the other classes. School is a pain but enjoy it. I have enjoyed being around you all, but now I have to leave. To all my young ladies don't cry I'll keep in touch, and I'm gonna miss you all. (Horsea Berry)

I leave this thought to my underclassmen. Education is a very essential part of life. So, no matter how hard things get remember you can go all the way. If I did it anyone can. Good Luck! (Kellye Walker)

Everyone has fun in high school. Lord knows, I did. So enjoy it while you can. I'll miss school but most of all my friends. (Brad McLomba)

We live in the present, we dream of the future and we learn eternal truths from the past. (Tonya E. Parker)

When you think you're out of options, make one up! (Joe McDonald)

As our path, which started thirteen years ago, draws to a close I realize that there were many roads from which to choose. There were problems to be straightened, decisions to be made and heart aches to be soothed. But it was, by far, my family and friends that made it all worth it. And I love them for it. (Rhonda LeVand Heath)

To all the other classes, I have enjoyed the stay, but it is time for me to leave, so I leave locker #94 to carry on. (Darrell Sain)

I would like to thank my parents for putting me through school, especially my mother for pushing so hard. I love you Mama and Daddy. (Kelly Oglesby)

Today we are high school seniors, Tomorrow we will become Freshmen. (Henry Hooks)

The rule of my life is to make business a pleasure and pleasure my business. (Tommy McDonald)

It was a long road that got me to this point in life and now I am ready to take on a new challenge. (Mark Russell)

Change, (good and bad), is merely a form of learning evident to all around you. (Jay Smith)

Those who dare to dream will someday rule the world, And those who accept the world as it is will eventually be trampled by the dreamers. (Tracy Lawrence)

Life to one who wanders is endlessly sharp. Entities who stay put are carotically dull. The pain reliever of life is not to cut people with your wisdom, but to eternally heal them. So take two capsules full of love a day and you can find a peaceful co-existence through salvation. If you can find your Savior, whatever you perceive it to be, the road holds no barriers for you. If you find you're stopping all the time, you better check the map. (Mark Newman)

Honors

Honors and Awards are a way of recognizing outstanding achievements. These take many forms. Many are in the tangible trophies, plaques, and certificates. Some are in words like "Thank you", "Good job", "I am proud of you". Others are by elections into special groups.

NHS inducted twelve new active members into their organization this year. All the new inductees were scored on their academic record, service to the community, and their attitude towards others. The NHS has been active on and off campus.

Many students of FHS have been awarded scholarships for their outstanding academic records and their high scores on the ACT test.

A special high school assembly is held at the end of each school year to recognize achievements in academic areas. Elementary students are recognized in special assemblies for academic achievements and citizenship, also.

Frequently our students receive special state and national honors.

Honor Students

The drug program, the induction of twelve new members, and a fund-raiser for cancer research, are just a few of the many things that the National Honor Society accomplished in 1985-86. With the help of their new sponsor, Ms. Sue Taaffe, their service reached out and helped many people in this community and around the world.

The chapter has twenty members, twelve of which are new. There are eight juniors and twelve seniors. Before the induction, the members had many activities involving the drug program. They taught the eighth and ninth grade classes the dangers of drugs.

After the induction, the society gave up an afternoon to raise money for the American Cancer Society. The students went in pairs, door-to-door, went throughout the town and many of the surrounding communities.
